

Dear Santa...

From ATPQ's programming committee : Carolina Castro, H el ene Haeck, C eline Legrand, Katia Bureau and Danielle Poirier

ISTJ Here are my three proofs of residency —driver's permit, phone and hydro bills—as well as my performance review. Please note the excellence of my attendance. I have not missed a single day since 1989. You know you can ALWAYS count on me.	ISFJ Cover up before leaving, it will be a long night. Make sure you bring plenty of covers and some hot beverage – but not coffee, it tends to dehydrate you. Be careful out there, many young children are counting on you!	INFJ Christmas is the coming together of two belief systems: that of the Christian celebration of the birth of a Messiah and the pagan ritual of remembering Light on the longest night of the year. It is Solstice calling out for Equinox., the renewed promise of Peace in the midst of war. Thank you for expanding the celebration by bringing abundance to every child.	INTJ Traditional cards are extinct! Long live emails and Blueberry. Hope you have yours they are indispensable. And let go of the reindeer, they are way past history.
ISTP Listen, I think the time has come to bring common sense to the table. Feasting is fine, but economy has its reason. I suggest you shop at these stores and use the coupons provided in this envelope. This way, everyone can enjoy something to make their daily lives a little smoother.	ISFP Now that we have become grandparents, we will be hosting our family's get together. All 4 generations will be present. I ask only one thing: happiness for each and everyone of them, for one happy family meal. Thank you.	INFP For a celebration meant to remind us all of Peace on Earth, we will be lighting a candle and putting it in the window as a reminder of the inner peace we all need to connect with, for the sake of all. From up above, may you see many lights shining in windows all over the world.	INTP I have no use for another Anthropology 101 class as an excuse for an office party. Spare me, I beg of you!
ESTP Now that is what I call an adventure! The whole earth in 24 hours, the best reindeer on earth, and a sled James Bond would kill for! Cool. No special request from me, you know what I like : surprises! (And cool gadgets, of course!)	ESFP Hey Santa! How are you doing? I'll be seeing you at the parade, for sure. I never miss a parade. By the way, this year the party is all about square dancing and sing alongs, so please come prepared, we expect you to join! And have we got a surprise for you!	ENFP The greatest gift is that of being all that you can be. May you find your generosity eternally renewed and may Peace on Earth be not only for men of good will...we can't wait that long!	ENTP Okay, time for a new Christmas concept. I vote for a universal concept that embraces all concepts. A concept that celebrates everything that Christmas is about, but without the cultural or religious overtones. Time for a true universal, global celebration. What do you think?
ESTJ We have definitely outdone ourselves this year. We have the greatest outdoor decorations in the city. It makes everyone rejoice in the middle of a harsh season, don't you think? We are really happy to make this small contribution.	ESFJ We hope you will appreciate this year's red and gold decorating scheme. There is leftover wrapping paper in the cupboard, just in case you run out. And thank you so much for all your thoughtful gifts.	ENFJ This year we will be joining the choir for a celebration. All my family and friends will be attending. We will greet you with open arms and help you deliver your gifts to all the children. We have made a special effort to include children from less fortunate families.	ENTJ Having studied the distances you need to travel, time zones, weather reports and the reindeers' past performances, I strongly recommend that you start with our home this Christmas.
